IGA FALL MEETING

Save the Date

We are excited for our upcoming fall meeting to be hosted in Dekalb, IL. We will have speakers from the Midwest Geosciences Group talk about some successful case-studies involving complex glacial hydrogeology. We will also have a presentation of research involving new drone technology.

There is room for more:

Do you have some interesting case-study or research you would like to present? We are looking for speakers for our Fall and Spring meetings. Please contact:
